GIVING RISE TO WOMEN'S VOICES

Rabata works to build a better society through the educational and spiritual development of women by women, amplifying the female voice in scholarship and publishing, and graduating teachers and religious leaders ready to serve their communities. Rabata is both an online and in-person learning space, where Muslim women—those who were born to the faith, those who have grown up under its shade, and those who are newcomers—can find and nurture their spiritual selves.

Rabata, Inc. is recognized as a nonprofit organization by the IRS. Section 501(c)(3). Please visit us at the Rabata Cultural Center in Arden Hills, Minnesota or online at rabata.org.

Daybreak Press publishes Muslim women writers in a variety of literary genres and academic fields, bringing to life work that cultivates positive cultural change.

Our adult and juvenile fiction titles tackle challenging issues, provide heartfelt inspiration, and serve as springboards for learning and discussion about issues such as growing up, inclusion, and mental health—breaking down walls as only literature can. Our poetry collection and book of du'ā's (prayers) offer the reader spiritual comfort, upliftment, and solace. Our nonfiction and academic works broaden the knowledge and deepen the religious lives of students and readers around the world.

WHEN THE WILD THINGS MEND

ON HURT, HEALING, AND HERITAGE

By Sahar A. Dandan

 @sahar.a.dandan

Paperback | $22.00 | 104 pages

978-1-967369-08-9

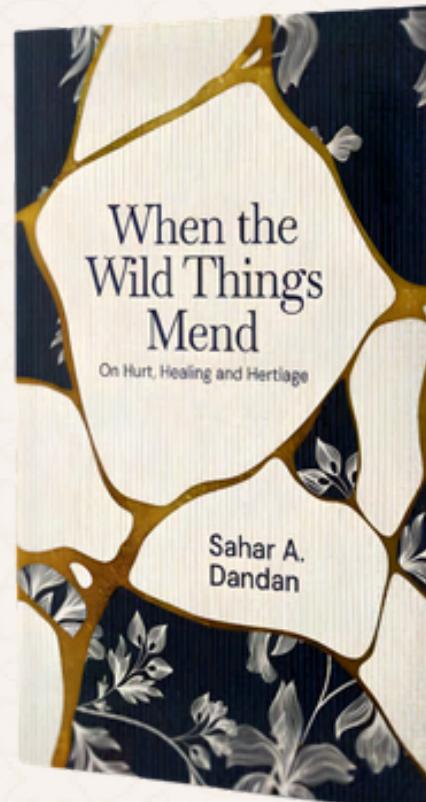

bookshop.rabata.org

In this powerful debut poetry collection, Sahar Dandan maps the space between a woman's silence and her scream, examining the wounds that shape womanhood and the legacies mothers pass on.

Dandan's visceral and incisive poetry explores the ways women are taught to be, the shapes they are obliged to take, and the margins they are expected to confine themselves to. From generation to generation, these traditions are passed down in fairy tales left unfinished and lullabies sharpened into weapons.

Both arresting and resonant, When the Wild Things Mend challenges readers to plant gardens of rebellion and stitch their names into the spines of books they were told they shouldn't write.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Sahar Dandan is a chemical engineer by training and a sustainability-driven executive by vocation. She holds a double degree in Chemical Engineering and Science from the University of Sydney.

Her passion for community development led her to shift careers, however, and she turned to pioneering programs for young refugees, Muslim women, and minority communities.

Alongside her professional and community work, Sahar continues to pursue studies in Islamic sciences and teach Islamic texts. She is currently the CEO of Greendale Garden Cemetery, where she leads efforts to integrate traditional burial practices with eco-conscious design.

bookshop.rabata.org

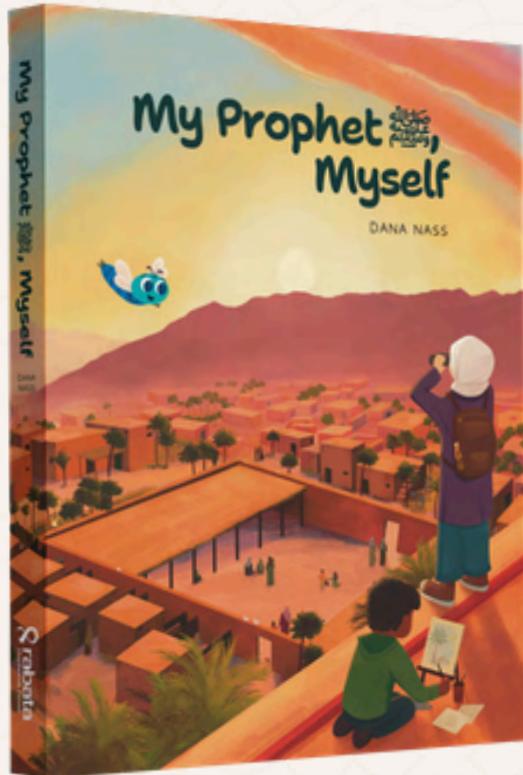

Journey into the character of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ and become the best version of yourself!

What did the Prophet ﷺ do when a companion asked for his new cloak? What did the Prophet ﷺ do when a tree cried? What did the Prophet ﷺ do when a family member tried to keep him from teaching about Islam?

The Prophet ﷺ was sent as a role model for us, but how can we follow his example?

My Prophet, Myself explores twenty-one positive characteristics of the best teacher of all time: Prophet Muhammad ﷺ. Kids aged 6-12 will enjoy reading stories of the Prophet ﷺ and his companions as they embody virtues like generosity, empathy, and confidence. Through these stories, explanations of the character traits, and self-reflective questions, readers will learn how the Prophet ﷺ lived and how they can emulate his virtues themselves.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dana Nass integrates character building into every curriculum she designs and every class she teaches. My Prophet, Myself is her first foray into the world of engaging textbooks for young people.

Holding a master's degree in psychology and behavioral analysis from Grand Canyon University, Nass currently serves her community as a behavior specialist and youth leader. She studied traditional Islamic subjects with renowned scholars in Damascus, Syria, as well as through Rabata, earning ijāzāt in Ḥafṣ recitation of the Quran and the Forty Hadith of Imam Nawawī.

Residing in Arizona, Dana finds joy in life's simple moments—savoring a cup of coffee or spending time with her family.

PROSPERITY WITH PURPOSE

By Nausheena Hussain
@nausheena.hussain

Paperback | $24.99 | 332 pages
978-1-7368031-0-3
bookshop.rabata.org

What would you say if I told you that Muslim women received just 0.2% of capital funds invested in a particular year? Before I read Prosperity with Purpose, I would have said, "We need to seek more of those funds!"

Nausheena Hussain, however, has far bigger plans. Her answer is that we need to become the people doling out those funds! And her debut work, Prosperity with Purpose, shows us how to reach that goal.

From investing in ourselves to investing in our 401(k)s, Hussain guides Muslim women to an abundance mindset that is backed by the creation of actual abundance. She provides solid spiritual strategies for living a lifestyle of productive self-care, getting the most out of our credit cards, and turning our own abundance into ever-increasing charity.

Whether you are eager to learn how to handle your money—in not only halal but uplifting ways—or have always run screaming from discussions of wealth and finance, Prosperity with Purpose is your guide to a balanced financial present and a rewarding hereafter inshallah.

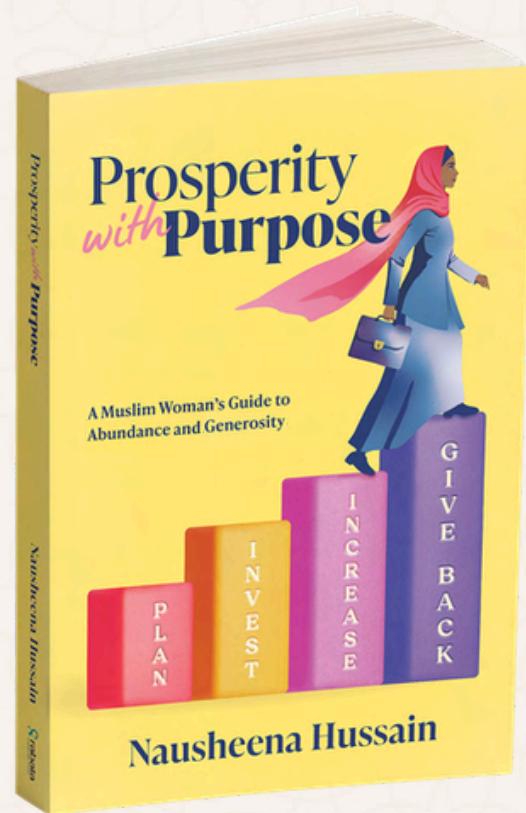

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Nausheena Hussain is a nonprofit entrepreneur, mentor, and speaker dedicated to empowering Muslim women-led nonprofits through Nissa Consulting. A Research Fellow at the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy, she is pursuing a doctorate in philanthropic leadership, focusing on Muslim women's generosity.

When not working, she enjoys reading, traveling, and attempting water activities—despite not knowing how to swim. She holds an MA in Philanthropic Studies, a Certificate in FundRaising Management (CFRM), and an MBA in Marketing. She lives in Minnesota with her husband, two children, and a regal house cat who side-eyes her financial decisions.

FINDING GOD

By Claudia Azizah Seise

 @clazahsei

Paperback | $23.99 | 214 pages

978-1-7345914-8-4

bookshop.rabata.org

Born into an atheist family in former East Germany, Claudia Seise spent years searching for her spiritual home before finding peace and tranquility in Islam. In Finding God, she celebrates God's guidance by recounting the conversion stories of more than 40 people from all over the world. From a young man seeing a coworker's dedication to his Friday prayer service to a high school student enjoying the hospitality of a friend's family... From a researcher inspired by the Muslim women she was studying to a Christian missionary reading the Qur'an she received as a gift... These diverse stories explore just some of the manifold paths God uses to turn His servants' hearts toward Him.

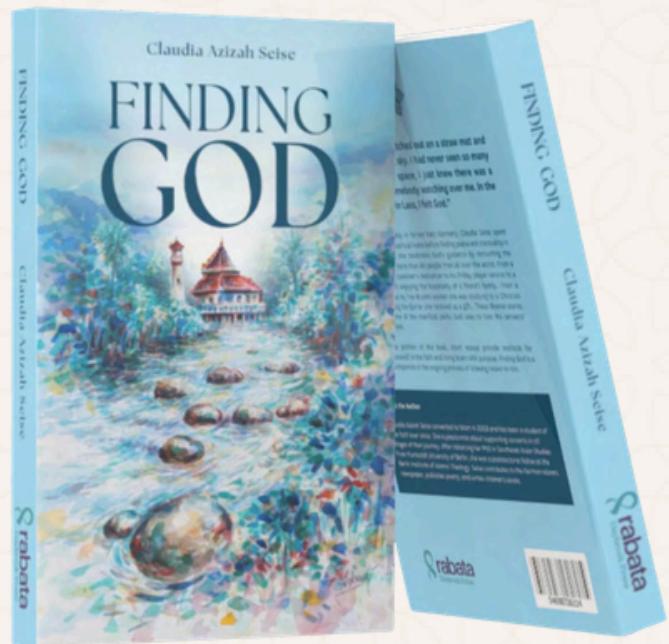

In the latter portion of the book, short essays provide methods for grounding oneself in the faith and living Islam with purpose. Finding God is a valuable companion in the ongoing process of drawing nearer to Him.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Claudia Azizah Seise was born in 1983 in Germany and converted to Islam in 2008. Ever since then, she has aimed to study Islam and seek knowledge on becoming closer to God. One of her passions is supporting new and old converts to Islam. She obtained her PhD in Southeast Asian studies from Humboldt University Berlin, Germany, in 2016. From 2018 to 2019, she served as an assistant professor at the International Islamic University Malaysia. Besides her academic writings, she has been contributing to the German Islamic newspaper since 2008. Her poetry has been published in several collections. She also writes children's books. From September 2020 to December 2023, she was a postdoctoral fellow at the Berlin Institute of Islamic Theology, Germany.

BREWING STORMS

By A.M. Ramzy

Paperback | $9.99 | 98 pages
978-0990625926

bookshop.rabata.org

The stories of men as seeker and teacher abound in the pages of heritage texts and literary works, but the stories of women are rare. Brewing Storms is a collection of poems that offers a window into the spiritual path of one young woman as she navigates her way through the storms of the soul. Ramzy's poems provide deep and honest insight into the challenges of growth and spiritual development, along with moments of profound fulfillment experienced along the way.

The beauty of poetry as an art form is that it can touch readers no matter what their path or background, and it is hoped that this collection will speak to those emotions which bind us all: searching, struggle, love, and longing.

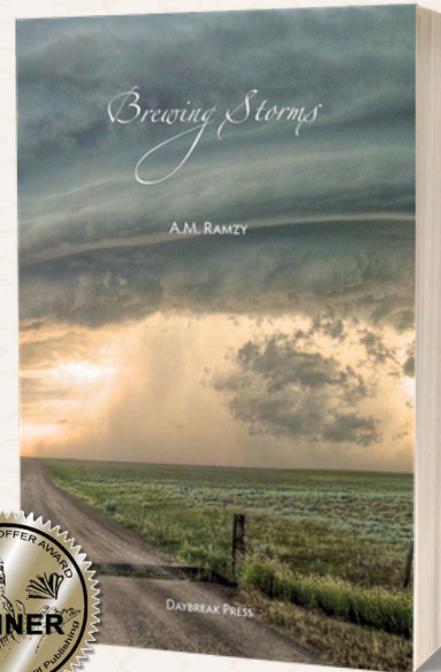

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. Anna-Maria Ramzy learned Arabic from scratch as a non-native speaker. Her relationship with this beautiful language took her to the University of Oxford, where she gained a First Class in her Arabic degree and is now working on her PhD. Her undergraduate studies led her to the lands of Syria, where she met Dr. Tamara Gray, honed her Arabic skills through intense study, and embarked upon the journey to gain her ijaza in tajwid.

Dr. Anse Anna-Maria built the Ribaat Arabic Program and continues to oversee this department. She has been teaching with Ribaat since its inception in 2013.

KAN YA MA KAN: FOLKTALES & RECIPES OF SYRIA & ITS ETHNIC GROUPS

By Muna Imady

Paperback | $24.99 | 408 pages

978-0999299029

bookshop.rabata.org

With the terrible civil war raging in Syria one of Muna Imady's biggest fears was that her country's unique culture would suffer. In particular, she worried that the oral tradition of storytelling, and even the ancient stories themselves, would be lost.

The result of her quest to preserve them is this book of folktales and traditional recipes from diverse regions of Syria, handed down through generations, painstakingly collected in numerous interviews, and charmingly retold here.

 rabata
Daybreak Press

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Muna Imady was born to an American mother and a Syrian father. She earned a BA in English Literature and a diploma in English-Arabic Translation from Damascus University, as well as a Maitrise from the Sorbonne.

Imady designed a beginner's English reading course for children, and wrote several text books to teach children English as a second language. In addition to this work, Muna also authored Syrian Folktales and Damascus Amid the War, which was published posthumously. Muna passed away on April 23, 2016.

Muna had a lifelong interest in folktales and promised herself that one day she would write a book of the folktales she eventually collected. Her mother, Elaine, and sister, Susan, helped publish her works after she passed away.
